

Awareness program on “Water Conservation”

On 13th November 2024, the University of Ladakh organized an awareness program on "Water Conservation" under the expert guidance of Dr. Jigmet Yangchan, Chief Scientist and Head, MRI & CISIC, University of Ladakh. The program aimed to raise awareness about the critical importance of conserving water in the region, which faces unique challenges related to water resources due to its arid climate and geographical conditions. Through this initiative, Dr. Yangchan and the university aimed to educate the community about sustainable water management practices, the impact of water scarcity, and the role each individual can play in ensuring the efficient use of water. The event was also graced by the Dr. Jigmet Deachen. DSW, Dr. Mohd Hussain, Dean Sciences, Dr. Stanzin Mentok, Dean Commerce and also 48 participants were participated. The event likely included discussions focused on practical steps for conserving water in daily life, as well as exploring innovative technologies and solutions to address water-related issues in the Ladakh region.